On The Cover

Few poses are more typical of Juniata College than this cover shot of the senior mentor of the faculty, Prof. J. Clyde Stayer. In his inimitable manner, Prof has chatted and counseled with students on campus for 37 years ... many times on the steps of Students Hall. This is Prof's retirement year, but he will continue service to his alma mater for many years to come. Students in photo are: Douglas S. Wilson '37, Altoona; Jacqueline L. Rowland '58, Hanover (center); Joan R. McClure '57, Colonial Park.

The Talk of The Campus

From This Angle

COMMENCEMENT TIME is fast approaching and with it will be the formal ceremonies and gay activities for seniors—and alumni, too.

One of the new highlights of this Commencement season will be an orchestra festival to recognize the founding of the orchestra. It will begin Thursday, May 31, and climax with a memorial concert Saturday night, June 2, in honor of Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh.

Dr. "N. J."—a former member of the orchestra—had much to do with its founding.

Arrangements have been made, under the supervision of Dr. Jack Brammer, associate professor of music, to have Dr. Karl V. Gilbert as guest conductor for the festival. Dr. Gilbert is known to many Juniataans as one-time conductor of the orchestra and professor of music at Juniata. His son, David Gilbert, who has attended the Eastman School of Music and is now an orchestral musician, will be the guest soloist.

Invitations have been extended to former orchestra members to return for this special occasion and "to help make fine music." Assisting Dr. Brammer on the committee are Thomas H. Knepp '31 and Harold B. Brumbaugh '33.

ANOTHER MUSICAL highlight will be the presentation of the oratorio "Elijah," scheduled for Sunday night (June 3) in Oller Hall.

Guest soloists will include: Helen Rosengren '54, Philadelphia, soprano; Mary Jo Pfothenauer, instructor at the College, alto; Gabriel Chiodo '40, Union, N. J., tenor; C. Greer Bailey '41, Irwin, baritone.

Oratorios, a long-time tradition at the college dating back to the early '30's, were discontinued several years ago. Now, with a renewed emphasis on fine music at this Commencement-Alumni week-end, students, faculty and alumni will have an opportunity to take part in one of the most impressive of all oratorios. Prof. Donald S. Johnson, chairman of the department of music, will direct the performance.

GUEST SPEAKER at Commencement ceremonies on Monday, June 4, will be a distinguished research scientist and minister, Dr. William Grosvenor Pollard. Dr. Pollard is executive director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

A former college professor of physics at Rice Institute, University of Tennessee, and Columbia University, Dr. Pollard took his present post in 1947. He also has been a consulting physicist for some of the nation's top industries.

Dr. Pollard became an ordained deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1952 and a priest in 1954. He is now associate minister of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

THE JUNIATA CAMPUS is becoming more and more a "meeting place" for conferences, contests, schools and get-togethers.

One of the important events this spring was Brethren Campus Day when college-minded high school students of the Church of the Brethren had a chance to preview campus life when they came with their pastors as guests of Juniata.

Current and What's Ahead

Alumni Reunions—Coming up on Saturday, June 2, will be the traditional get-togethers of reunion classes. Leading off will be the 55-year reunion of the Class of '01 . . . 50-year reunion of Class of '06 . . . and 40-year reunion of Class of '16.

Classes of '20-'21-'22 will join for a 5:30 p. m. gathering at the blue room of the Penn Hunt Hotel. And another three-way reunion is scheduled for the classes of '40-'41-'42 with a buffet supper at 5:30 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frederic Steele, Fairmount, Huntingdon.

Other reunions: '31 at Faculty Club; '46 at Penn Koffee Shop; '53 and '55 at Hotel Penn Hunt. All at 5:30 p. m.

Orchestra Festival—Beginning Thursday, May 31, a student-faculty-alumni orchestra will be organized to play a memorial concert on Saturday night (June 2) of alumni weekend.

Oratorio "Elijah"—Professor Donald Johnson has been rehearsing a Commencement chorus to sing "Elijah" in Oller Hall on Sunday night, June 3.

Commencement—Exercises are scheduled for Monday, June 4, at 10:30 a. m. in Oller Hall. Dr. William G. Pollard, executive director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge, Tenn., will speak.

Sports Events—Traditional clash between alumni and varsity in baseball is set for Saturday afternoon, June 2. A Calloway handicap for alumni and varsity golfers will be held at Huntingdon Country Club in the morning.

Summer Term—Juniata's Summer Term will open Monday, June 18, and continue through two-five week periods until August 24.

During the morning, guest students had an opportunity to visit classes and to ask questions of faculty members concerning preparation for attending college. An organ recital, luncheon, campus tours, tennis match and baseball game were included in the day's program arranged by the Rev. Clarence H. Rosenberger '36, church representative.

THE MASQUE'S presentation of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" (March 23-24) was described as "an unexcelled performance for a non-professional group of actors."

A reviewer in The Daily News, Huntingdon, wrote "There were no stars. That is to say no one actor was outstanding in comparison with his fellow players. Yet each performed his role just as Williams surely must have meant it to be portrayed."

The four-member cast included Mary Jane Hershberger '56, New Enterprise; Nancy A. Nevin '57, Port Washington, N. Y.; James M. Montgomery '57, Burlington, N. J.; and Gerald W. Richards '56, Philadelphia.

Gordon H. Felton, director, and Clinton E. Betz, Jr. '57, his student assistant, were credited with "a job well done."

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS week on the campus in late February gave the Juniata family an opportunity to hear a viewpoint on religion from a Dartmouth assistant professor, Fred Berthold.

Professor Berthold conducted—quite successfully—seminars on Reason and Revelation; The New Law and the Christian Social Responsibility; The Importance of the Historical Jesus; Christianity and History. He spoke in chapel three times and was available for personal counseling with students interested in discussing problems of religion.

New QP System

A NEW QUALITY point system has been adopted at the college this year which changes the numerical measure of value of the current letter-grade.

Abolishing the old system of assigning three points to the grade of A, the college is using the new evaluation of assigning four points to the A. Successive evaluations provide three points for each B, two for C, one for D, and none for F.

Although the student does rate more numerical value for his grades, the effect on the majority of upperclassmen is "virtually nil," according to A. William Engel, Jr., registrar.

At the same time the college adopted the revised quality point system, it also required upperclassmen to double the number of quality points for graduation. Formerly a student needed 120 credit hours and quality points to match; now he will need 120 and 240.

The effect of the new quality point system will be felt in the distinction in the quality point averages between D and F grades, Engel explained. Under the former three-point system, there was little distinction between the two grades because neither received quality points.

Under the 4-3-2-1-0 system, grades can be evaluated to provide a more accurate representation of the student's standing, the registrar maintained.

Honor Society

TEN TOP SCHOLARS from the senior and junior classes have been elected members of the Juniata College Honor Society for "academic achievement, cultural interest, and moral integrity."

Seniors named were: Anne A. Appleby, Mount Union; Helen Sell, Altoona; John T. Yates, Hagerstown, Md.

The seven juniors were: Lawrence W. Davis, North Braddock; Jacquelyn Hayes, Ebensburg; Richard A. Livingston, Johnstown; James Martin, Colver; James M. Stayer, Denver; Carol Titus, Paulsboro, N. J.; and Joyce White, Lewistown.

These students joined three others elected to membership last year: James A. Cummins, Huntingdon; Robert A. Fisher, Honey Grove; William Z. Smith, Jr., Waynesboro.

Listed in Annual

JUNIATA COLLEGE has again been included among the 110 in the eighth annual listing of "representative small colleges" in the nation.

The Small College Annual for 1956, issued by James W. Hampton, of Maryville, Tenn., lists Juniata among 29 eastern independent colleges.

Included among the articles in the annual is one by Dr. J. Glenn Gray '36, who is now a member of the faculty at Colorado College. His article is entitled "The Role of Religion in the Non-Denominational College." Last year, Dr. Gray was a Fulbright Research Professor in Freiburg, German, and was also a Ford Faculty Fellow.

The 44-page illustrated magazine also includes photographs of Juniata's 1955 May Queen, Doris Markey; Joe Veto kicking an extra point in the 1954 undefeated football season; and Herb Law earning money in spare time as a barber.

This listing was first published by the Education Department of Good Housekeeping magazine as an annual survey to discover the "best small colleges" of the nation. Juniata has been included each year.

Students Elect

JAMES M. STAYER '57, Denver, Pa. (Lancaster County) has been elected president of Student Senate after one of the most vigorous and hotly contested campus votes in recent years.

Stayer, a Dean's List student and reserve guard on the Indians' unbeaten football team, took office at the traditional Move-Up Day ceremonies on March 26. He served as chairman of religious activities on this year's senate and was president of the Juniata Christian Association.

Stayer '57

In addition to his campus academic and athletic activities, Stayer serves as student pastor in a small church in a nearby community. A graduate of Cocalico Union High School in 1953, he is majoring in the combined fields of history, Bible and philosophy.

Jim is a son of Dr. (Acad '22) and Mrs. Raymond R. Stayer.

Other officers elected were: Newton C. Taylor, Huntingdon, vice-president; Phyllis A. Marcocci, Dudley, secretary; William E. Hershberger, Everett, treasurer.

Four men and four women were elected to the Senate chairmanships. Included were four juniors: Eloise Holsinger, Johnstown, women's house; Richard W. Mumma, Harrisburg, underclassmen; E. Ray Ono, Seabrook, N. J., men's house; Douglas S. Wilson, athletics. Sophomores were: E. George Fattman, Tarentum, publications; June M. Gray, Pleasantville, N. J., social activities; Kerin J. Narbut, Belle Vernon, religious activities; J. Ann Willson, Montoursville, general activities.

Coed to Edit Scout

Janice M. Hoyer '58, of Huntingdon, has been appointed editor of The Scout, freshman handbook.

Student Editor Named

Joan R. McClure '57, 4433 Devonshire Rd., Colonial Park (Dauphin County), Pa., has been named editor of The Juniatian, student weekly newspaper. Miss McClure was chairman of publications on student senate and served the past year as managing editor of the newspaper.

District Contest

EIGHTY CONTESTANTS from 19 different high schools in a 13-county area participated in a district contest of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League held at the College on March 13.

Johnstown area students captured top honors in the one-day program by taking 15 out of 24 events. Winners were certified to compete in the state championships at the University of Pittsburgh April 26-28.

The contest at Juniata was conducted under the supervision of W. Clay Burkholder '35, superintendent of Mifflin County schools. Dr. Harold C. Binkley and Professor Donald S. Johnson, of the faculty, supervised the judging.

Host to Buyers

JUNIATA was host to the Central Pennsylvania group of the National Association of Educational Buyers for its quarterly meeting March 22.

Approximately 25 representatives from colleges attended the one-day session. John T. Fike, treasurer of the College, served as chairman.

647 Enrolled

SPRING TERM enrollment figures show 647 in attendance—525 as resident and 122 as non-resident. The breakdown indicates men outnumber women, 387 to 260. An estimated 116 will be candidates for degree in June or August.

Dean's List

TWENTY STUDENTS were named to the Dean's List of Distinguished Students for superior academic achievement during the Fall term. Seven attained a perfect "4.00" average based on the new quality point measure of value.

Six juniors, five seniors, five freshmen and four sophomores were included on the current list. The students were graduated from 20 different high schools. They are:

James J. Corrigan, Pittsburgh (Crafton); Lawrence W. Davis, North Braddock (Scott); Robert A. Fisher, Honey Grove (Juniata Joint); Joan A. Fyock, Harrisburg (John Harris); George G. Hess, Collingswood, N. J.

Arthur G. Norris, Hanover; Helen M. Sell, Altoona; Barbara J. Shaffer, Ridgway; William Z. Smith, Waynesboro; W. Bryan Stauffer, Greensburg.

James M. Stayer, Denver (Cocalico Union); Carol E. Titus, Paulsboro, N. J.; Barbara R. Walls, Glenside (Abington); Spencer A. Ward, Everett (Everett Southern); and John T. Yates, Hagerstown, Md.

Dean Dove to Marry

MRS. ALICE B. DOVE '17, dean of women at the college, has announced she will resign at the end of this year to become the bride of J. Bradford Shawn, of Denton, Md. The wedding has been set for mid-June.

Mrs. Dove has been dean since 1952. Mr. Shawn is former chief of maintenance and operations for Du Pont in the Wilmington, Del., area. The couple will live in Hagerstown, Md.

New Approach to Christian Missions

President Calvert N. Ellis and Mrs. Ellis returned to Huntingdon March 1 following their around-the-world journey. During their three-month tour, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis spent six weeks in Bombay State, India. While in that area, Dr. Ellis conducted a survey of missions as a representative of the Church of the Brethren. He was accompanied by the Rev. J. Henry Long, associate secretary of the Foreign Mission Commission of the church's headquarters staff in Elgin, Ill.

The following report was extracted from a message by President Ellis in the Stone Church of the Brethren.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCHES must recognize that "an agonizing reappraisal" of the Christian missions in Asia is necessary and that "our entire approach must be changed."

No longer can the missionaries continue to equate Christianity in terms of western civilization, Dr. Ellis maintained.

"The church of Asia must be for Asians, directed by Asians and supported by Asians."

President Ellis admitted that his conception of the work of the missionaries was "rudely shaken" in India. He explained that it is no longer possible for Americans and British to force our music, our architecture, our pastoral system, our way of life on these people if Christianity is to survive in this part of the world.

In describing the important characteristics of the church in India, he pointed out that it "wishes to be and will be an Asian church."

"They don't like our music . . . and maybe we don't like theirs . . . but missionaries are awakening to the fact that they want their own." The same is true about the structure of their churches in the villages—mud and bamboo, not imposing cathedrals. And it is also true about their stewardship and their pastoral system.

Because it is essential that they have a pastoral system which they can support, we must accept the fact that "stewardship in kind" will be their method of support . . . whether it be rice, chickens or money. We must recognize that "they have their own way of life," Dr. Ellis emphasized.

It is interesting to note, he explained, that the Indian Government has passed a law that "no missionary may enter the country unless he can do a job that an Indian cannot." That means, of course, that few new missionaries are getting in and more and more the older ones are moving out.

In the face of all this, "we must support the Indian church but permit them to make their own decisions," Dr. Ellis maintained.

There is a place for the missionary in the Asian countries, he stated. And there is need for support from United States.

He went on to give some examples of "what can we do." Among these were: help support new churches which they establish; help to support Christian hospitals; provide aid to higher education, particularly for ministers; avoid sending too many Indians to our country for higher education because our cultures are so different.

Although time may be running out for Christian missions in India, there is work for the missions in bolstering Christianity, according to Dr. Ellis.

"There is no religion outside of Christianity that gives the place to the individual that Christianity does."

Then he went on to explain that "we must define Christianity in terms of the value, integrity and absolute worth of the individual" in dealing with our friends in Asian countries.

President Ellis elaborated by pointing out that "only in Christianity do you find respect for woman . . . understanding for education . . . wholehearted support for medical care."

BRETHREN SERVICE IN GERMANY was observed briefly by President and Mrs. Ellis on their round-the-world journey. Meeting at Kassel, headquarters of the Brethren Service Commission, are: Dr. Ellis, Mrs. Ellis, Mary Lou Zimmerman ex '57, Pikesville, Md., presently living with a German family and studying in a German school as an exchange student; Louisa Staats of Braunschweig, Germany, "sister" of Mary Lou; Mrs. W. Newton Long and Mr. Long, Baltimore, Md., trustee of Juniata College who accompanied the Ellises on part of their trip.

India was described briefly as a country "one half the size of United States with twice as many people." Of the 360 million in India, there are eight million Christians—half Protestant and half Roman Catholic.

President Ellis explained that the Church of the Brethren began its work in Western India in 1894. Its missions are located in Bombay state, some 200 miles north of Bombay. The work of the Brethren encompasses one and one-half million people in some 1500 villages. There are 25 congregations with approximately 9,000 members.

He followed this with a brief explanation of the characteristics of the church in India. Among the principal characteristics is the fact that Christianity is "a minority group . . . exclusive . . . somewhat of a caste . . . and with a definite martyr complex." Then he stressed that "the Asian church is for Asians."

"But Christians do have a great responsibility in establishing and supporting Christianity in India."

Smith Wins Info Quiz

William Z. Smith '56, Waynesboro, took first prize in the annual General Information contest at the college this Spring. He's a major in history and political science. Prizes are given by John H. Biddle, publisher of The Daily News, Huntingdon, in memory of his father.

New Scholarship

A NEW SCHOLARSHIP has been established at the College by the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association for a male student who "has lived in a small town and has had close ties with farms and farm people." It will be available beginning this year to applicants in the second term of the sophomore class. Its value will be $150 per term through the junior year.

The scholarship, announced by Ralph H. Horst, administrative director of field services for the state-wide cooperative, is the first awarded to a liberal arts college in Pennsylvania.

To qualify, the student will agree to work for the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau a minimum of eight weeks during his summer vacation at the end of his sophomore year. If the student continues to make satisfactory progress at Juniata in the academic program of his choice, he would agree to accept employment with the Farm Bureau for another eight week period in the following summer. Then, he would be eligible to continue through his senior year at the rate of $200 per term.

Among the qualifications considered essential for the scholarship are: farm background or equivalent; interest in agricultural industry; personal attitudes and characteristics. Grades must be considered "adequate" by the college's committee on financial aid.

"How to" Article

An article "How to Work with Students and Faculty in Fund Raising," written by Harold B. Brumbaugh '33, alumni secretary, has been published by the American Alumni Council in its 200-page book on Educational Fund Raising.

47 Events at Juniata

Spring sports schedules in four sports at Juniata show a total of 47 events.

Grab For Grads

Industries Compete For Cream Of Juniata's Class of '56 Crop

THE GRAB FOR GRADS has hit a new high as American industries sent more talent scouts than ever before to college campuses in a scramble for the most valuable of raw materials—eager, educated young men and women.

All of this has resulted in a busy year for Juniata's placement service operating under the direction of Dr. James F. Penney, dean of men.

Representatives of some 20 business firms and industries showed up at Juniata to interview seniors. And so did a dozen or so "recruiters" from various public schools in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Maryland.

"The interviewing schedule proved heavier than ever," according to Dean Penney. "In fact, we had to turn away at least six major firms because we ran out of material."

Companies competing to sign up the cream of the '56 crop were making salary offers higher than last year to get the men—or women—they wanted.

Two seniors majoring in economics and business administration were offered positions at starting salary of $5,400. The young man adept with a slide rule was in demand and could count on going to work for as much as $400 a month to start if selected by one of the larger firms.

Like most colleges, Juniata discovered that the demand greatly exceeded the supply in most fields, Dean Penney observed.

"The shortage of candidates for the many positions was somewhat embarrassing. We could have scheduled many more interviews if we had the students who were interested," he stated.

WHAT ARE YOUR JOB INTERESTS? That question is popped earlier than ever these days as Dr. James F. Penney, dean of men and head of the placement service, begins the year-around search for candidates for scores of companies. Ray Ono, left, is only a junior but he is chairman of men's house on Student Senate and a physics major which will make him a "hot" prospect next year.

A recent survey of major industrial corporations showed that each of them has a high-powered recruiting program in operation to get a share of the limited number of trained graduates getting diplomas in June.

In some fields there are three times as many jobs open as there are graduates qualified to fill them.

The United States Steel Corp., which sent its representatives to Juniata, had 50 men touring the campuses as recruiters looking for 800 engineers and 200 graduates with business administration and liberal arts degrees. The Bell Telephone Co., another which came to the campus, expected to interview 13,000 men on 300 campuses before the college year ends.

The talent search is a long and costly process for industry . . . and creates some new problems for campus placement services, too.

"But we are more than happy to cooperate with business and industry, and the school men, in their effort to find and use competent manpower," Dean Penney said.

To do so, the college has completed new quarters for Dean Penney in the basement of Founders Hall (in location of old book store). There, in addition to a reception office and private office, he has a conference room which was used "to near capacity" during February and March.

And just to get an idea of industries and business firms represented, here is a list from Dean Penney:

Burroughs Adding Machine Co., U. S. Steel Corp., Swigart Associates, International Business Machines, Owens-Corning Fiberglas, Prudential Insurance Co., Shell Oil Co., Bell Telephone Co., S. S. Kresge Co., Insurance Company of North America.

Sylvania Electric Co., Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative, Retail Credit Co., Gimbels, Sun Oil Co., Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Atlantic Refining Co., Proctor and Gamble, Scovell, Wellington and Co., H. J. Heinz Co., and Central Intelligence Agency.

MAJOR TASK OF PLACEMENT is arranging for the company recruiters and scheduling the interviews. Dean Penney works this in with his many duties as dean of men in his new quarters in basement of Students Hall. Assisting is Mrs. Ruth Stoudt.

INTERVIEWS HAVE BECOME DAILY ROUTINE for many of Juniata's seniors as business, industry and schools vie for job candidates. Set up in the placement service's new conference room, two representatives of Sylvania Electric Co., conduct an on-campus interview with Lee Hallman, left, senior basketball ace and major in economics and business administration.

Praise for L. A.

IN A DIRECT challenge to those who charge that the liberal arts leads nowhere, Dr. Paul Swain Havens, president of Wilson College (Chambersburg, Pa.), maintained that "the liberal arts leads everywhere . . . to the life of your mind . . . to the circle of your life" when he spoke at the Winter Convocation January 30.

Dr. Havens, in his message, explained that although good thinking has been synonymous with straight thinking, he thought it was good practice to do "some circular thinking." Quickly he explained that he "did not mean loose, illogical or inconclusive thinking."

No Degrees Granted

NO CANDIDATES for degrees were presented at the College's Winter Convocation in a departure from Juniata's normal practice. This came about because five students who completed their work at the end of the Fall term elected to receive their degrees at Commencement exercises in June.

ALUMNI DAY
Saturday, June 2

INDUSTRIAL TALENT SCOUTS flocked to the campus this year seeking Juniata's eager, educated young men. In the conference room here for an interview is James D. Hunt, (back to camera) president of Student Senate, former editor of The Juniatian, and major in history and political science.

Receives Chemical Award

A Juniata chemistry student, Robert A. Fisher '56, Honey Grove, Pa., was one of six from the area presented with an award by the Central Pennsylvania section of the American Chemical Society.

WILLIAM BEERY

PROF. WILLIAM BEERY '82, oldest living college alumnus in America, student at Juniata College shortly after its founding and one of the patriarchs of the Church of the Brethren, died at Elgin, Illinois, Sunday, January 29, 1956.

Professor Beery, a distinguished man with a white beard, was well-known to all generations of Juniatians. He was also a noted hymn composer. He had been in vigorous health until he caught cold a few days before his death.

His distinction of being the oldest living college alumnus in the United States was only one in a long line of distinctions held by this member of Juniata's class of 1882. Confirmation that he was the oldest came from the American Alumni Council, which published an article in 1954 listing Professor Beery as "third oldest." Leading the old-timers at that time were Miss Ella Miller, Hollins College and the Rev. Harvey Chapman, of Bowdoin. Both died during the early part of 1955 at the age of 104.

Professor Beery would have been 104 had he lived until April. Born April 8, 1852, he was a native of Hocking County, Ohio. He came to Juniata shortly after its founding in 1876 as the Brethren's Normal School. He was a member of the faculty from 1878 to 1908.

William Beery was one of three Ohio "orphans" who went to the Old Forge at Paradise Furnace during the winter of 1878 because the smallpox epidemic closed the school. His companions were Benjamin F. Bowser and Levi Stoner. In the fall of that year, Professor J. M. Zuck, principal, assigned Mr. Beery the work in music which he undertook while pursuing his studies for graduation. For 13 years, Professor Beery had charge of the choir at the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory. He was also a Sunday School superintendent and active in county and state Sunday School work. He conducted teacher training classes for scores of students.

Another of Professor Beery's distinctions was that every April 8, for 15 years, he celebrated his birthday by singing over a nation-wide radio network from Station WLS, Chicago. He appeared as a soloist regularly at Juniata alumni meetings in Chicago, where he was honorary president of the alumni association.

He had been employed by the Church of the Brethren publishing house in Elgin until 1931. During his lifetime he helped to compile hymnals and Sunday School songbooks for which he furnished many of his own compositions.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Judith Garber, with whom he lived and a son, Leon, a music instructor in a Virginia, Minn., school.

Great Books to Library

The Juniata College library has been selected to receive one of 1,600 sets of the 54-volume Great Books of the Western World being distributed through a selection committee of the American Library Association under a grant from the Old Dominion Foundation.

Alumni Achievement

Success as Composer

A HAPPILY MARRIED life, the duties of caring for four children, a love of music and an interest in religion—these are the four main factors to which Mrs. Mary Stafford Brougher '38, attributes her success as a composer of church anthems, poems, and songs.

Her anthem, "My Master's Plan," prize winner of a recent nationwide contest conducted by the Lorenz Publishing Company, of Dayton, Ohio, has been published in the March edition of "The Choir Herald" by the Lorenz Company.

An ability to write songs was quite an accidental discovery for Mrs. Brougher, daughter of Mrs. Henry Stafford, of Scalp Level, formerly of Huntingdon, and sister of Mrs. W. Fred Strait, Sr., Huntingdon. She and her husband, Olin '37, are graduates of Juniata College.

Mrs. Brougher took summer courses at the Pennsylvania State University but no formal training in music ever entered the picture. And so she was surprised and delighted as she sat down at the piano in her home at Johnstown R. D. 4, one evening and "suddenly there was something there I had never heard before," she said.

As she did the laundry in the basement that evening, she thought about her new tune and put words to it. She secured a copyright for her first song and later heard it sung over radio, although, she confessed, "It wasn't too good, but I was quite proud of it."

Since that time, Mrs. Brougher has had several children's songs and religious poems published and has had her songs sung over Johnstown area radio stations. A children's song, "Valentine," was published in the February issue of

MRS. MARY S. BROUGHHER '38

Children's Activities Magazine and another is to be printed in a forthcoming issue. An Easter song was printed in another children's magazine last spring and others have been accepted by various magazines as have several poems.

At present, in the midst of keeping house for four children and her husband, directing the Tire Hill Church of the Brethren Choir and various other activities. Mrs. Brougher is working on a children's operetta. She likes all kinds of music and says her youngest daughter, Janice, who is 6, is the inspiration for much of her music for children which she calls "fun and more relaxing" than anthems which are a challenge.

The Brougher's oldest daughter, Linda Marie, is 16 and a junior at Conemaugh Township High School. She plays the oboe, piano, clarinet and organ. Their 14-year-old son, William, is a freshman at the Davidsville School and plays a trombone in the school band though his musical interest must move over to make room for an interest in basketball during the season. Their other son, Michael, is 10 and a fifth grade pupil studying piano and violin.

The current ambition of the mother of this musically inclined family is to break into the field of popular songs for which, she said, one needs a good contact. Many of the popular songs which she has submitted have come back unopened but she still has high hopes that one of these days the doors will open.

Antique Leader

PERHAPS THAT HEAD "antique leader" needs further explanation. It's this way: William E. Swigart, Jr. '37, Huntingdon insurance executive, has been elected president of the Antique Automobile Club of America after its 20th annual meeting in February.

The Antique Automobile Club of America is the oldest and largest automotive historical society in the nation. Founded 20 years ago in Philadelphia, the club is the result of one of the most popular family hobbies in the country.

The club has grown to over 6,000 members who own and have restored approximately 10,000 autos dating from 1892 to 1929.

Swigart's interest in antique automobiles dates back to 1930 when he first started his collection. He is currently collecting automobile literature and rare and unusual automobiles for his museum now under construction east of Huntingdon on Route 22.

The Antique Auto Club has more than 100 chapters in 39 regions in the United States. It has sponsored the famed Glidden Tour on many occasions.

Hicks to Leave

WHEN BOB HICKS moves from his heading coaching position at Juniata to take over at DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind., he will leave with an undefeated record in two seasons of football.

Hicks, former Penn State star, climaxed two highly successful years by leading the Indians into the Tangerine Bowl classic at Orlando, Fla., last Jan. 2. That game

Hicks Draws Praise

Commenting on the resignation of Bob Hicks as coach, President Calvert N. Ellis stated: "We have been very happy to have Coach Bob Hicks as a member of our faculty. Not only has he been a successful coach, but he has been a fine ambassador for Juniata College. Naturally, we are sorry to have him leave our staff, but we wish him Godspeed in his new assignment at DePauw."

with Missouri Valley ended in a 6-6 tie to bend but not break Juniata's 23-game winning streak.

The former Muhlenberg and Albright assistant resigned to accept the post of head coach of football and baseball at DePauw, succeeding Edwin R. 'Mike' Snavelly.

Hicks held spring practice at DePauw but returned to Juniata after Easter to take charge of the Indians' baseball team for its spring schedule.

Hicks, co-captain of Penn State in 1949 and brilliant pass receiver as an end for the Nittany Lions in their 13-13 tie with Southern Methodist in the 1948 Cotton Bowl, succeeded Bill Smaltz as head coach at Juniata in 1954.

Tarquinio Gets Award

Juniata's talented tailback, Pat Tarquinio of McKees Rocks, has been honored as Central Pennsylvania's "athlete of the year" by the Jewish Memorial Center of Altoona. Previous winners were Maurice Stokes of St. Francis and Tony Rados of Penn State.

The Juniata Sports Parade

DOC AND FIVE SENIORS were the key men in Juniata's basketball success in the past three years. (See story) Left to right, standing: Dr. T. Arnold Greene, coach; Bernie Oriss, North Braddock; Walt Vanderbush and Torry Froisland, both West Orange, N. J. Kneeling: Lee Hallman, Pottstown, and Jake Handzelek, Mocanaqua.

Seniors Pace Tribe

JUNIATA'S five senior basketball men climaxed their collegiate court careers by pacing the Indians to new all-time scoring marks in winding up a third straight winning season.

The team scored a record high 1711 points for an average of 81.5 in winning 14 of 21 games. Both marks exceeded the former highs of 1596 and 76.0 per game set two seasons ago.

The Tribe, coached by Dr. T. Arnold Greene, recorded its 14 victories over Susquehanna twice, Indiana, Franklin and Marshall, Ursinus, Lock Haven, American U., Lycoming twice, Shippensburg, Dickinson twice, Grove City and Elizabethtown.

By trimming Grove City, 107-79, the Indians set a new single game scoring record. Another record went on the books when the Tribe's opponents recorded a new high total of 1623 points and an average per game mark of 77.3.

Once again, Jake Handzelek, the scoring master from Mocanaqua, Pa., led his senior mates by tallying 492 points for an average of 23.4 per game. This placed him 28th among the country's small college scoring leaders.

Although Jake's point total this year fell short of his record-breaking performance of 553 in his sophomore year, he did establish new highs for the college in foul shooting. His 156 free throws in 193 attempts (.808) surpassed his sophomore record of 121 out of 165.

Paced by Handzelek, Juniata ranked eighth among the nation's top small colleges in free throw percentage (NCAA small college statistics) with .718. The Indians threw in 465 of 648.

Handzelek also carried off the individual game high mark for the season by scoring 36 against Indiana Teachers.

All of Jake's senior teammates scored heavily this year. Walt Vanderbush, 6-6 center from West Orange, N. J., took runner-up honors with 349 points for a 17.5 average per game. Vanderbush led in rebounds with 268.

Lee Hallman, Pottstown, tallied 246 and Torry Froisland, West Orange, N. J., hit for 172, but in addition, both were regarded by Dr. Greene, as key playmakers. Bernie Oriss, North Braddock, ranked fifth in points with 148, but paced the five regulars in field goal accuracy with .470.

Among the reserves, two sophomores, Mike Armstrong, Altoona, and Barney McLaughlin, North Braddock, topped 100 points. Armstrong hit on .444 percent of his shots to tally 119; McLaughlin had 116 in 14 games.

Record Crowd at Juniata

When 3,000 jammed into Memorial Gym for the PIAA Class C state championship between Williamsburg and Jenkintown, it was a record attendance mark for the college's physical education building.

Handzelek Honored

Jake Handzelek gained a second team spot on the Associated Press all-state basketball squad this season.

Howie Kerstetter '56 a regular for Juniata in three seasons who was unable to play this year because of leg trouble, coached the Indians' junior varsity to a 10-5 record.

Led in Rebounds

Juniata's 6-6 center, Walt Vanderbush, led his team in rebounds for the fourth straight year. He had 268.

Tops in Sports

THREE OF the College's grid-iron stars from McKees Rocks area, who led the unbeaten Indians into the 1956 Tangerine Bowl, have won the top awards in football for "excellence in performance, good sportsmanship and cooperation."

The winners, selected by coaches and teammates, are: Barry Drexler, 1621 Clarkton St., Pittsburgh 4; William J. Haushalter, 1240 Holmes St., McKees Rocks; and Pat M. Tarquinio, 52 Highland Ave., McKees Rocks.

At the same time, Jake Handzelek of Mocanaqua, Pa., all-time scoring sharpshooter for Juniata, was recognized as the "player of the year" in basketball. All are seniors.

Drexler, Little All America end and captain of the team which ran up 23 straight victories, shared the honor of "best football lineman" with Haushalter, 165-pound middle guard who was Coach Bob Hicks' "3-D player" because of his determination, desire and durability. Each received identical trophies presented by an alumnus, George L. Weber '40, Watertown, N. Y.

Tarquinio, talented tailback who gained All-State first team honors two straight years, won the Dr. J. Harold Engle '23 trophy as the "best football back" for the second time. Tarquinio, three-year letterman from Stowe High, eclipsed both the single season and three-year total offense marks at Juniata.

Handzelek, former Shickshinny High sharpshooter, shattered every season scoring mark on the Indians' book to win the Jack E. Oller trophy for the second time. His four-year point total was 1,950.

Froisland Recognized

Torry Froisland, senior from West Orange, won the "most valuable player" award in a post-season YMCA basketball tourney in Altoona.

Jake Cracks Records as Doc's Handyman

CRACKING RECORDS became "old stuff" to Jacob Casper Handzelek, of Mocanaqua, Pa. (Luzerne County), the master shotmaker of Juniata's all-senior basketball quintet.

In his four years as handyman of Dr. Arnold Greene's team, Handzelek shattered every season scoring mark on the Indians' record books. He registered the highest average per game (26.3), scored the most points (553), most field goals, most foul shots.

Now, Handzelek's name goes on the books as the first player in Juniata's 52 seasons of basketball to better 400 points in four successive seasons. His four-year point total was 1950 for an all-time record high average of 23.8 in 82 games.

Although records are broken every day in this era of high-scoring basketball, the four-year mark of Handy Jake may stand for some time on Juniata's records. No former player for the Tribe ever scored 400 points in one season; and no member of the present team has reached that total.

Even as a freshman, Handzelek was breaking college records. He obliterated an eight-year-old Juniata scoring mark by piling up 473 points for a 23.7 average in 20 games. The previous high had been 353 points in 20 games established by Dick Wareham '45, in 1944-45.

Jake led Juniata to its best season in a decade in his sophomore year when Dr. Greene's charges won 15 out of 21. In that 1953-54 season, Handzelek shattered all existing marks with 553 points and a 26.3 average for 21 games.

JAKE HANDZELEK '56
Handyman Scores Again

He made good on 40.6 percent of his shots from the field.

The former Shickshinny High sharpshooter did not maintain this sizzling pace in his junior year but finished the season with 432 points and a 21.6 average. Jake's amazing accuracy at the foul line last year—85.3 percent—ranked him among the nation's top three in foul shooting.

In 21 games this year, Handzelek maintained a 23.4 average with 492 points on deadly set shots and drive-in layups with either hand. That was good enough to rank him 28th among the nation's top scorers in small colleges.

What was the effect of Handzelek's shooting on Juniata's basketball success? Well, the three successive winning seasons compiled by the Indians since 1953 mark the first time in 30 years that Juniata basketball teams have bettered the .500 mark three years running.

Not only has Jumpin Jake led Juniata to winning basketball games. He spearheaded Shickshinny High School to the Eastern PIAA finals by scoring 1008 points in his senior year at the Class B school. He averaged 32.5 per game in the regular season and better than that as his school advanced in tournament play. Handzelek once scored 59 points in one high school game against Forty Fort and hit 44 in the PIAA playoffs.

The single game scoring record evaded Jake at Juniata, however. That record of 43 was set by Dave Pollock, Berwick, Pa., in Memorial Gym March 5, 1952, against Lebanon Valley.

Handzelek's highest scoring performance came in the first game of his sophomore year when he swished 40 against Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster, Pa.

Seldom did Jake have a really "cold" night. Only once in his four years of collegiate competition did he fail to score less than 10 points in a contest. That came this season when he got only 9 at Lock Haven.

All-Opponent Five

FIVE of the nation's small college basketball leaders were named to Juniata College's all-opponent team for 1955-56.

27 Win Varsity J

THE COLLEGE has awarded varsity J letters to 27 athletes—19 in football and eight in basketball.

Lettermen in football include: Ron Bechtel, Roaring Spring; Keith Birmingham, Coraopolis; Don Brumbaugh, Saxton; Barry Drexler, Pittsburgh 4; Charles Haines, Vinco; Glenn Hassinger, Huntsdale; Bill Haushalter, McKees Rocks; Ed Kohl, West Reading; Bernie McQuown, Punxsutawney; Charles Mullen, Altoona.

Don Pheasant, Mill Creek; Harry Samuels, Baldwin, N. Y.; Bill Schott, Glenshaw; Don Shover, Lemoyne; Bob Sill, Altoona; John Staley, Tarentum; Al Sellari, Aliquippa; Pat Tarquinio, McKees Rocks (Stowe); Bill Waryck, Aliquippa.

Eight of the 19 are seniors including Bechtel, Birmingham, Drexler, Haushalter, Pheasant, Samuels, Tarquinio and Waryck.

In basketball, the awards were made to: Mike Armstrong, Altoona; Bill Burchfield, Altoona; Torry Froisland, W. Orange, N. J.; LeRoy Hallman, Pottstown; Jake Handzelek, Mocanaqua; Bernard McLaughlin, North Braddock; Bernie Oriss, North Braddock; and Walt Vanderbush, W. Orange, N. J.

Five of the eight are seniors including Froisland, Hallman, Handzelek, Oriss and Vanderbush.

In addition, varsity letters were awarded to two managers in football, Henry Gibbel, Lititz, and Forrest (Bud) Douds, McKees Rocks. Stephen B. Ulsh, Burnham, received a letter as basketball manager.

Golf Tourney

Headlining the golf schedule was the annual Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference championship at the American Legion Country Club in nearby Mount Union on May 5.

Former Coach Dies

ONE OF THE TRIBE'S pioneer football coaches, Ronald Kichline, 61, died in Reading on January 20, 1956. He came to Juniata from Mansfield State Teachers College in 1921—the second year for football at the college.

Four years later, Coach Kichline returned to Ursinus, his alma mater, to become head football coach. He later was an insurance executive, high school teacher and city recreation board member.

Coaching Vacancies

RESIGNATION of Bob Hicks as head coach wipes out the complete football staff which led the Indians to its Tangerine Bowl clash with Missouri Valley last Jan. 2.

Hicks' pair of assistants, Joe Veto and Tony Segalavich, both of McKees Rocks, Pa., left Juniata in January. Veto completed his degree requirements and Segalavich, a graduate in 1953, finished one term of post-graduate work.

Kiracofe Pinch-Hits

Dr. Ed Kiracofe, former coach of baseball and golf, supervised the baseball team in the absence of Bob Hicks, who conducted spring football practice at Depauw University in his new coaching position. Dr. Kiracofe is chairman of the department of education.

Drexler on Diamond

Barry Drexler, sensational end and captain of the unbeaten football team, tops the list of seven veterans on the Indians' baseball nine. Drexler gained honorable mention on the NCAA's district baseball team.

Snider in 24th Season

P. M. (Mike) Snider, director of athletics at the College, is in his 24th season as head coach of track and field.

Another 100 Club

Alumni To Aid Admissions

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of the College has established an organization of 100 volunteer counselors who will assist the college in the screening of candidates for admission. These alumni have been selected because of their influence in directing students to Juniata.

In this first year of operation their activities are limited to interviews with students who have already been accepted for admission. It is a common practice today for students who are headed for the best colleges to apply to more than one institution. This multiple application procedure makes it difficult for the college to accept the exact number of applicants.

An interview by an interested and influential alumnus will reveal the student's actual plans and college preference. Then, a report of this interview to the Admissions Office is valuable information. Moreover, the best of these can be encouraged to enter Juniata.

In succeeding years Admissions Counselors will interview students in their area, and the reports will be considered by the Admissions Committee before action is taken on acceptance.

This program will operate through the Alumni Office at the College in cooperation with the Office of Admissions. A conference will be held each year in the fall.

Representatives from most of the 23 local alumni associations in areas from New York to Chicago are in the group. The majority of them will be functioning in Pennsylvania. Areas not represented are: Baltimore, Md., California, Florida, Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio, and Washington, D. C. Except for Baltimore, there are very few candidates for admission to Juniata from these associations.
